What happened ?
Our colleague had completed an out of hours fault and was on the way home. On their journey they pulled up at some traffic lights. As the traffic lights turned green our colleague proceeded across the junction in the direction of the red line on the diagram to the right. As they were crossing the junction a third-party vehicle coming from the direction of the yellow line skipped the red light at their lights and hit our vehicle. Fortunately, there were no injuries however both vehicles were recovered from the scene. In this instance, there wasn't much our operative could do however it is a good reminder to be vigilant about your surroundings and watch out for other road users that might be driving unpredictably.
