FIRST ALERT

Cut thumb while trimming trees

A vegetation worker received a severe laceration to his thumb working in a shelter belt he had climbed.

It is known the arborists chainsaw he was using contacted his other hand, causing the cut to his thumb.

Other details will follow once an investigation is completed.

He was very lucky that nothing was amputated.

Immediate actions

- The worker made his way to the ground and first aid was given before he was taken to hospital
- He has undergone an operation and is now recovering
